

ABSTRACT

A roof closure system for use with corrugated panel roofs having a ridge cap and ventilated or non-ventilated foam closures permanently attached thereto, the ridge cap and the foam assembled as a ready-to-use single unit. The foam closure is formed a highly malleable foam material such that the closure may be used with any style of corrugated metal roof panels.